

I have been with xm radio for for almost two years now. I travel in my pickup pulling a work trailer about 1000 miles on the road per week I rely heavily on the consistency of xm radio to provide me with up to the minute weather or traffic problems. If I know that there is a storm approaching I can listen the the weather channel to find out just how serious the storm is and plan accordingly. if there is a traffic problem somewhere i also would like to hear of that. knowing that I can rely on xm where ever i travel and not relying on trying to find the right band radio channel depending on my location. I am a make my vote count and mean something kinda of person and I ask all of my iowa chosen representatives to listen to some one who relies on there xm radio.
